WHY BECOME AN ACCREDITED COACH SUPERVISOR WITH CSA-NA?

Coaching Supervision is “A place where coaches could really drill down and reflect deeply on their work and on who they were in the moment in their work. And get more awareness of how they were coming across, how to release their skills fully and how to stay at the top of their game.” Edna Murdoch, CSA Founder

1. Deepen learning and understanding of the hidden dynamics of coaching systems and coaching relationships.
2. Develop capacity to reflect on emerging dynamics, energy and relationships that affect the quality and integrity of coaching—individual, team, and group.
3. Develop a profoundly deep sense of who you are as a coach and as you encounter various clients.
4. Become skillful and accredited as a Coach Supervisor capable of evoking the highest quality and ethically sound coaching in service of clients and their organizations.
5. Be part of a rich learning community of very experienced and diverse coaches from a wide array of coach training programs.

Why Choose CSA in North America?

- Coaching Supervision supports coaching excellence in the fast-growing North American coaching market and maturation of the coaching profession.
- Sam Magill, Lynne DeLay and Karyn Prentice pioneered coaching supervision in North America.
- The faculty are all top-level coach educators who understand the context of coaching in North American corporate culture.
- Earn ICF 73 CCEUs (46 Core Competencies and 27 Resource Development). a further 8 CCEUs in Core Competencies can be gained from the compulsory supervision sessions attached to the course, and attending a course approved by ICF and accredited by EMCC – European Mentoring and Coaching Council.
- The venue for CSA North America in 2021 is the stunning retreat center at Islandwood – just outside Seattle.

“CSA’s Supervision program has been an extraordinary thought-provoking, transformative developmental experience in a compassionate learning environment. This program has changed how I see myself and how I see the world. I am a better coach because of this program and I am an emerging supervisor.”

What makes this course different?

- Experiential by design, with in-person modules that accelerate learning in a safe environment. Just as swimming can’t be learned without time in the water, CSA’s first-hand supervision training is “learning by doing”.
- Practical training that bridges theory with practice in real time and is immediately applicable in supervision practice.
- Holistic and Creative – CSA works with the whole person, going beyond models and techniques, to bring in the arts and creative play. Our intention is to get at the heart of what it means to be a “human supervisor”.
- Relational supervision training is anchored by the Full Spectrum Supervision Model; its center being the relational connection and interactions of the supervisor, coach, and client, learning from and with each other.
